This Month's Presentation Will Be
Intelligent Hiring:
Using Emotional Intelligence to Hire the Best
Presented by Phil Brunone

Principal and Founder of HR Solutions, LLC

Why do some highly intelligent managers fail while others succeed?

Why do some people with high IQ's flounder while those with a modest IQ do surprisingly well?

Can a person's emotional intelligence be strengthened or is it fixed at birth?

This session will introduce the concepts of emotional intelligence and its importance to successful business leadership and overall organizational health. Based on the findings of Daniel Goleman and others, we will identify the components of EI, review and discuss actual case studies on how emotional intelligence has positively and negatively impacted organizations, and how we as leaders might utilize EI in our professional development, recruitment and selection processes.

Phil Brunone, principal and founder of HR Solutions, LLC, serves as a consultant and strategic partner to both Fortune 500 companies and small businesses. His success in the human resources field is directly linked to his ability to develop strategic alliances with business partners through mutual trust and respect for their abilities and emphasizing a continuous commitment to managing human resources with a high level of honesty and integrity.
